

www.africangoodsafari.com

Legal disclaimer for website and any related links.

The contents of and the information in this site, are neither meant nor intended to be a definitive treatment of the subjects topics and issues therein, nor meant to be a substitute or replacement for any legal, professional or expert advice, but is merely a preliminary source of information.

The site and its contents should not be relied upon as a basis for making any decision or engaging in any action or undertaking, and is not a source of legal, professional, or official advice, nor a risk management tool or an attempt to forecast or predict any events or outcomes.

The author or compiler of the aforementioned, does not hold himself out as an authority or expert on the subjects topics and issues therein and therefore does not nor cannot warrant, vouch, claim or in any way claim any degree of accuracy or currency.

Other independent, professional and official advice should always be sought elsewhere, to assist in any risk management activity, of any or any perceived or potential risk, so as to allow and afford any decisions to be made, relating to travelling, visiting, touring, doing business, or engaging in any form of commercial or other activity, in any country in Africa.

Health and safety issues should be well researched by the traveler or visitor and taken into account when planning and prior to undertaking any visit or travel. These should include, but not be limited to obtaining adequate and comprehensive travel insurance as well as researching and obtaining or ensuring the validity of any vaccinations required or recommended by medical professionals or health authorities in the traveler's country of residence or destination.

Readers and customers are directed to our Terms and Conditions published on this site.
(Last amended May 2011)